

ARMY WILL DISCHARGE TURKS AND BULGARS About 200 at Meade Will Be Released From the Service

LIFT LAST QUARANTINE Philadelphia Soldier to Lead Camp's Development Band in Parade at Baltimore

Special Dispatch to Evening Public Ledger Camp Meade, Md., Nov. 7. All Bulgarians and Turks who are discharged from the service within the next few days, steps to that effect were taken this morning. Under a new ruling by the War Department which was issued when it was seen that Turkey and Bulgaria were on their last legs, all subjects of the two countries named who are soldiers in the American army are to be considered from this time on, and until peace has been concluded between the two countries as alien enemies instead of "enemies of allied countries" under which head they were formerly included.

About two hundred of these soldiers will be given their release from the army under the new ruling. It is not believed that any harm will be done now to say that the Turks and Bulgarians for the most part have been of little use to the United States army. They have been ordered to fight—among them to the advancement of their fellow soldiers with whom they have been associated. Though no statement has ever been made on the subject it is generally known that the Turks at this camp were generally inclined to be insubordinate and had to be ruled with a more or less iron hand. Appeals to them to support the country which had given them shelter had little effect, though there were a few pleasing exceptions. There were some Turks who were willing and eager to fight—among them men who were glad to apply for naturalization, but for the most part the soldiers of the two races at Meade were a source of considerable trouble.

The last of the quarantine band in this camp will be lifted on Monday. On that date the Liberty Theatre, which has been closed for the last few weeks, will be opened, and entertainments will be allowed in the Y. M. C. A., K. of C. and Jewish Welfare buildings. Since the epidemic started all entertainments have been forbidden except for convalescents in no case were more than 200 men allowed in any of the welfare buildings for such entertainments, and the audience was limited strictly in its membership to men recuperating from influenza. Entertainers from outside were forbidden to come to camp.

A Philadelphia boy, Sergeant Ed Raucher, will lead the development band of the 14th Depot Brigade Band in the big parade to be held in Baltimore Saturday at the opening of the United war workers drive. Sergeant Raucher has certainly made good with his band. He organized it and developed it until it has become a first-class organization. He got his musicians together two months ago and kept rehearsing them day in and day out until the band is now in great demand for concerts in camp, in Baltimore, in New York, and other cities. Most of the members are Philadelphians, so that it should have a special appeal for Quaker City folk. It will be a merry band, and it is remaining here whether or not the men of the Lafayette Division are sent across.

Sergeant Raucher, who had an orchestra of his own at home, has organized a jazz band which is filled with pep. This band has played in the leading hotels and theaters in Baltimore and Washington, and has traveled as far as Charleston, W. Va. It played in that last named town during the last Liberty Loan campaign.

QUISCONCK TRIAL TODAY

First Hog Island Ship Leaves for Initial Test The Quisconck, the first finished product of Hog Island shipyard, is having its trial trip. The new ship left the fitting pier at the shipyard at 6 o'clock a. m. and will make a run to the Delaware River, where it will be tried out over a measured course. The boat was inspected yesterday by Charles M. Schwab, Charles P. Biez, vice president and general manager of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, and Rear Admiral John A. King, in charge of the Delaware River district for the Emergency Fleet Corporation.

U. S. DIRIGIBLE MISSING

Balloon With Six Students Drifts Over Lake Erie Cleveland, O., Nov. 7.—The United States training ship, a motor launch of the life-saving station and an airplane returned to their base late last night after a futile search for a military dirigible balloon, containing six military aviation students, reported as having drifted beyond control over Lake Erie. The balloon, which was launched from Akron yesterday for Cleveland, was last seen by occupants of the second dirigible at a great height and drifting rapidly northward.

NEWS OF SHIPYARDS

SHIPWORKER ESCAPED FROM GERMAN PRISON 79 SHIPS DELIVERED; NEW WORLD'S RECORD

Jack Evans, Former Canadian Soldier, Eluded Captors After Five Attempts

Try, try again! That's what Jack Evans, a former Canadian soldier, did to escape from a German prison camp. The fifth time—well, he is now a shipworker for the Pussey & Jones Company. Evans enlisted during the early part of this war in the Canadian Mounted Rifles. He took part in the battles of Ypres, Messines Ridge and Plug Street. After ten nerve-racking months in the trenches, he was wounded in the third battle of Ypres, June 2, 1916. During the same engagement he was taken prisoner. His battalion went into the engagement with 1100 men and came out with only thirty-nine. In the hands of the enemy the wounded soldier was hustled through Belgium and landed in the camp at Dulmen, Germany.

Recovering from his wounds and the effects of gas he was put to work in the "Black Hole," a coal mine. When he regained his strength, the former soldier began his series of attempted escapes, until finally he eluded his sentries, after two weeks of hazardous adventures reached Holland and safety. Then he made his way to the Allied lines, where he remained until discharged from the service. He then came to this country and decided to do his bit by helping the nation's big shipping program. He is employed in the service department of the yard at Gloucester.

AFTER RECORD AT HARRIMAN Shipworkers at Yard Are Striving for High Mark

"A ship ahead of the schedule." That is the slogan and the goal of riveters, fitters, boiler-makers, heater boys, mechanics and all other kinds of workers at the yard of the Merchant Shipbuilding Corporation, Harriman, Pa. A great ambition has developed among the workers to make the Merchant yard the banner one of the shipbuilding industry of the United States. The yard reached a new record last week when it completed two weeks of hazardous adventures reached Holland and safety. Then he made his way to the Allied lines, where he remained until discharged from the service. He then came to this country and decided to do his bit by helping the nation's big shipping program. He is employed in the service department of the yard at Gloucester.

Emergency Fleet Corporation Produces Nearly Half Million Tons in October

World shipbuilding records in deliveries for ships were broken by the United States shipping board in October, according to announcement at the offices of the Emergency Fleet Corporation. Seventy-nine ships, a total of 412,968 deadweight tons, were delivered during the month. The deliveries included forty-seven steel ships, 201,258 deadweight tons; thirty wood ships, 107,200 deadweight tons, and two composite ships, 7000 deadweight tons. The record-making program, carried out in September was topped by nearly 60,000 tons. Of the October production 298,108 tons came from American shipyards and the remainder from Japanese yards. The American totals exceed by 67,950 deadweight tons the output of ocean-going vessels in 1914-15. It betters the pre-war high mark in American shipbuilding, the total of 1914, by 11,252 deadweight tons. It also surpasses the British record for any month by 190,307 deadweight tons.

Once more the Pacific coast led all sections of the country in shipbuilding. The deliveries in California, Washington and Oregon total thirty vessels of 190,400 deadweight tons. Along the Atlantic coast there were completed and delivered seventeen vessels of 102,600 deadweight tons. The great Lakes shipyards delivered twenty-one vessels of 72,900 deadweight tons. From the Gulf coast came nine vessels of 33,200 deadweight tons.

The October deliveries bring the total of completed new ships in 1918 up to 228,832 deadweight tons. Since the date of the first delivery, August 30, 1917, there have been completed and delivered 487 ocean-going vessels, totaling 2,792,417 deadweight tons.

JACK KENT, of the Pussey & Jones smith shop at Gloucester, has gone into the chicken-raising business as a side issue. He looked at the rising price of hen products—then built himself several model hen houses and installed incubators.

AN ELECTRIC HORN, which emits a shriek like a foghorn on a battleship, has been attached to the furnace of the smith shop of the Pussey & Jones yard. When the fire shut down the horn bursts forth, "Lenny" hum, the furnace blower, says in some horns, and gives him great assistance.

D. C. HOPPER, an employee of the Hog Island lower department, is now a candidate for the training school at Camp Zachary Taylor, Kentucky. Hopper served as an engineer at the shipyard.

THE FISH BONE CLUB at the Pennington yard of the Pussey & Jones Co. held an informal meeting to arrange for a banquet in the near future. John I. Crain, the club's president, is in the machine shop. The club is now in the machine shop. The club is now in the machine shop.

Help Fight the Epidemic

General Blue Tells How to Cure "Spanish" Grip Spanish influenza and what to do for it are described by Surgeon-General Rupert Blue of the Public Health Service as follows: "The disease is characterized by sudden onset. People are stricken in the street, in factories, shipyards, offices or elsewhere. "First there is a chill, then fever, with temperature from 101 to 103; headache, backache, reddening and running of the eyes, pains and aches all over the body and general prostration. "Persons so attacked should go home and to bed and call a doctor immediately. "Treatment consists principally of rest in bed, fresh air, abundant food, with Dover's powders for relief of pain. Every case with fever should be regarded as serious and kept in bed at least until temperature becomes normal. "The army doctors at Camp Devens are using dichloramine-T, in solution with eucalyptol and liquid vasoline, or combined with chloroform, in prophylactic treatment as a protection against Spanish influenza with good results. But this remedy is for doctors only. No layman should attempt its use, as the ingredients are dangerous if used in improper proportions.

Let everyone take precautions to prevent the spread of Spanish Influenza (or the grip). This disease, carried by germs, attacks you through the air you breathe.

Vaseline Eucalyptol Petroleum Jelly "Vaseline" Eucalyptol contains no dangerous ingredients of any kind. Snuffed into the nostrils, it protects the delicate membrane with an antiseptic film—no irritation. Its action is disinfecting, cleansing. If you breathe through your nose, as you should, "Vaseline" Eucalyptol lessens the risk of this dread infection. Use it every night and morning. At all druggists. CHESEBROUGH MANUFACTURING CO. Food for Thought Last year Delineator families ate 19 1/2 tons of California raisins every day. More this year. More every year that the raisin growers keep on advertising. When the advertising started, in 1914, the total California crop of raisins was 98,000 tons, and there was a big carry-over. In 1917 the crop was 163,000 tons and it was sold out six months before the next crop had matured. Are you making known the virtues of your product to the vast and prosperous audience that reads...
